Deeping St James United Charities welcomes a new face at the Citizens Advice outreach point that it funds fortnightly at The Institute 38 Church Street, Deeping St James.

For 8 years, the residents of Deeping St James have been able to access a wealth of free advice on the problems they face, close to their doorsteps, at the Citizens Advice point in The Institute, 38 Church Street, Deeping St James. This is down to the support of Deeping St James United Charities, which hosts a face to face service every fortnight.

The new advisor is Mike Doolan, who, as well as all the usual general topics, specialises as a money mentoring advisor. His role in Deeping St James covers all issues with the main ones being benefits queries, housing and money problems, consumer rights, employment and relationship issues.

Mike says " I won't know the answer to all the problems that come my way but, with the huge range of experience and knowledge across Citizens Advice South Lincs, and the resources available, I will be able to provide the client with the options available to them".
